Community Emergency Response Training (CERT)

The Thornton Office of Emergency Management and Fire Department are offering CERT Training to all residents over the age of 18.

Community Emergency Response Training (CERT) is a national program that educates communities about natural and man-made hazards to prepare residents, government agencies, and private/non-profit organizations to enhance response capability and resiliency to recover after a local emergency or disaster.

Thornton CERT Training is 24 hours of hands-on training that prepares our whole community for an emergency or disaster.

You'll learn skills in team-building, disaster preparedness, fire safety, medical response, psychology, and light search and rescue.

The eight (8) weeks of training culminate in a full-scale disaster exercise where you can put your newly acquired skills to work.

To graduate and receive a certificate, you must complete all eight (8) weeks of training and participate in the exercise. Any classes missed can be taken at a later date or with another CERT Program in the Denver Area.

Upon completion you'll receive a certificate and CERT back-pack with supplies to get you started on your emergency kit.
